Heartbrain Interactions:

Can't Get You Out of My Head: Brain-Body Interactions in Perseverative Cognition Cristina Ottaviani, Julian F. Thayer, Bart Verkuil, Hugo D. Critchley, Jos F. Brosschot, 2018-02-16 Perseverative cognition is defined as the repetitive or sustained activation of cognitive representations of past stressful events or feared events in the future and even at non clinical levels it causes a fight or flight action tendency followed by a cascade of biological events starting in the brain and ending as peripheral stress responses In the past decade such persistent physiological activation has proven to impact individuals health potentially leading to somatic disease As such perseverative cognition has recently been proposed as the missing piece in the relationships between stress psychopathology and risk for health Perseverative cognition is indeed a hallmark of conditions such as anxiety and mood disorders that are at increased though still unexplained cardiovascular risk Although the pivotal role of ruminative and worrisome thoughts in determining the onset and maintenance of psychopathological disorders has been acknowledged for a long time its effects on the body via reciprocal influences between mental processes and the body s physiology have been neglected Moreover perseverative cognition is definitely not restricted to psychopathology it is extremely common and likely even omnipresent pervading daily life The objective of the Research Topic is to provide an interdisciplinary examination of cutting edge neuroscientific research on brain body signatures of perseverative cognition in both healthy and psychopathological individuals Despite the evident role of the brain in repetitive thinking and the assumption that our mind is embodied bran body pathways from perseverative cognition to health risk have remained largely unexplored Critical Care Cardiology for Cardiovascular Emergencies Keita Saku , Takahiro Nakashima, 2025-09-25 In recent years the selection and management of cardiac support devices have become increasingly complex due to the diversity of options available such as intra aortic balloon pumps extracorporeal membrane oxygenation and percutaneous left ventricular assist devices As a result critical care cardiology is evolving with specialists building their expertise and accumulating evidence to support shock teams and mechanical circulatory support for patients experiencing cardiogenic shock and cardiac arrest Our goal is to develop strategies for managing patients with cardiovascular emergencies who require cardiac intensive care particularly those in need of mechanical circulatory support Topics of interest include but are not limited to Identifying the predictive factor for patient s prognosis Risk stratification in patients at CVICU Establishing the management of mechanical circulatory support Weaning strategy from mechanical circulatory support Anticoagulant strategy during mechanical circulatory support Enhancing the understanding of the mechanism of cardiogenic shock and post cardiac arrest myocardial dysfunction Assessing the impact of comorbidities during mechanical circulatory support Evaluating the efficacy of rehabilitation in patients with critically ill at CVICU Evaluating the efficacy of a Hub Spoke system Developing the criteria of a central Hub hospital Developing the criteria of patients transfer and optimal methodology of interhospital transfer Efficacy of the shock team We invite studies focusing on biomarkers for predicting patient outcomes scoring systems and weaning strategies from mechanical circulatory support However this Research Topic is open to all articles covering every aspect of critical care cardiology

Regulation of Heart Function Heinz Rupp,1986

Heart-Brain Interactions Giuseppe Di Pasquale,Giuseppe Pinelli,2012-12-06 In the last decade there has been a growing interest in the study of the interactions between the heart and the brain especially in the field of cerebral ischemia The interactions between cardiovascular and cerebrovascular diseases are of relevance not only for research investigation but also for clinical implications in the daily clinical practice i e A wealth of information has been gathered particularly on three topics cardiovascular consequences of cerebral injuries cardioembolic stroke and association of carotid and coronary artery disease The available information however is still sparse and fragmentary mainly because of the lack of communication between neurologists and cardiologists With the aim of improving communication between several disciplines and technologies we started to organize since 1987 in Bologna Italy an international Symposium on heart brain interactions to be held every 3 years Our intention was to gather prominent clinicians and researchers from outstanding cardiologic and neuro logic institutions actively involved in the study of heart brain interactions The ambitious goal has been to fit different pieces of information like in a puzzle This book originates from the contributions presented at the 2nd Symposium which was held in Bologna on November 30 December 1 1990 The book is subdivided into three sections I cardiovascular consequences of cerebral damage II cardiogenic cerebral ischemia III cerebrovascular and coronary artery disease
