

A starry night sky with a rocky coastline in the foreground. The sky is filled with numerous stars and a few bright nebulae. The coastline is dark and rugged, with some rocks visible. The water in the foreground is calm and reflects the stars and the coastline. A semi-transparent white box is overlaid on the sky, containing the text.

“There is no one who is insignificant in the purpose of God.”

Godly Image:

The Godly Image Romanus Cessario, 2020-06-19 Christian satisfaction stands at the center of the Church's teaching about salvation. Satisfaction pertains to studies about Christ, redemption, the Sacraments, and pastoral practice. The topic also enters into questions about God and the creature, as well as about the divine mercy and providence. Somewhat neglected in the period after Vatican II, satisfaction now appears to scholars as the forgotten key to entering deeply into the mystery of Christ and his work. Seminarians especially will benefit from studying the place satisfaction holds in Catholic life. Further ecumenical work requires a proper understanding of the place that satisfaction holds in Christian theology. Various factors operative since the sixteenth century have worked to displace satisfaction almost entirely from reformed practice and theology. To address such concerns, The Godly Image has over the past several decades and more done a great deal to put satisfaction within its proper context of image restoration. That is to interpret satisfaction within the context of the divine mercy and not the divine justice. This unique contribution to satisfaction studies owes a great deal to the achievement of Saint Thomas Aquinas. In this sense, the book enacts a retrieval of the theology of the high classical period. Like much of Aquinas's refined teaching, a proper understanding requires appeal to the commentatorial tradition that follows him. Interested students will find in this study the touchstones for further studies of these authors. The Godly Image I aims also to distinguish the theology of Aquinas from that of the medieval author with whom the notion of satisfaction remains mostly identified: that is, Anselm of Canterbury. Although not a developed focus of the book's contents, the attentive reader will recognize that Aquinas treats Saint Anselm with a reverential reading, even as the Common Doctor moves significantly away from interpretations of satisfaction that suggest that an angry God exacts from his innocent Son a painful substitutional penalty for a fallen human race.

Writing God's Book of Life R. Crafton Gibbs, God and You Dr. Ray Ashurst PhD, Cecil Yates MS, 2022-03-04 At the exact point of salvation, the individual is coupled with God, and their connection becomes a dynamic relationship. The individual receives grace and blessings from God that last forever. God provides for believers in magnificent ways, treating us with divine grace. His love is unchanging and everlasting, pure and genuine. God and You explores the spiritual riches God bestows upon believers. We have an everlasting, lifelong relationship with Him, and He demonstrates His power in our daily lives. Because God's grace is evident in all His provisions for believers, we can live lives of spiritual joy and happiness, all gifts that make up the dynamic relationship we have with God. At the moment we began trusting Christ as our Savior, our Father placed within us His own divine righteousness. This is our eternal spiritual insurance policy. He forever maintains His very personal relationship with us as His sons and daughters, making our inner selves people of great worth. Inspirational and uplifting, this study guides believers to a better understanding of their close and dynamic relationship with God and all its wonderful provisions.

Mosey CRANSWICK,1871 The House That God Built Zebedee King,2016-02-27 By looking at the nightly news and simply observing for themselves the denigration of homes and communities across our country many would agree that family foundations are cracking and shifting out of place This has resulted in untold devastation within the home and our other social systems therefore many households and lives have simply given way and collapsed under the weight of a host of societal pressures Many believe that a generation of social experimentation along with our cultures fixation at redefining virtually every foundational institution especially the first human institution marriage are responsible for placing the family and society on very shaky ground indeed leaving a very dubious moral and economic legacy for successive generations When cracks begin to appear upon the walls of a house it may indicate a shifting or damaged foundation which may indicate poor foundation work As a result builders typically reexamine the blueprints the master plans to determine the manner and materials with which the house and foundations built in order to pinpoint and repair a weak or damaged foundation It is the authors conviction that in many households within society weak or faulty spiritual and moral foundations have been laid resulting in the cultural cataclysm we witness throughout our land In his book The House that God Built Gods Master Plan for Marriage and His Blueprint for Blessing Book One of his Strong Foundation for Strong Families series the author discusses the need for a RE Vision of marriage and the family but not by redefining replacing or removing these honorable foundations and pillars which have supported societies from the beginning of time Rather by employing the word RE Vision he calls for a refocus a fresh new look at Gods original design for the marriage and family This plan is found in Gods Holy Word specially the first two chapters of the Book of Genesis because this he feels is where marriage family and social systems began Therefore the book is a thorough exposition of the first chapters of Genesis which explore the motivations and the methods through which God Himself built His house the heavens and the earth This study provides keen spiritual and practical insights as to how we can build our homes according to Gods plans so as to receive His best blessings upon our homes and upon our communities
