Evolution and extinction rate controls Arthur J. Boucot, 1975 Evolution and Extinction Rate Controls A.J. Boucot, 2011-08-30 Evolution and Extinction Rate Controls Genetics, Paleontology, and Macroevolution Jeffrey S. Levinton, 2001-08-06 An expanded and updated second edition comprehensively looks at macroevolution integrating evolutionary processes at all levels to explain animal diversity Evolutionary Paleobiology of Behavior and Coevolution A.J. Boucot, 2013-10-22 This book is the culmination of many years of research by a scientist renowned for his work in this field It contains a compilation of the data dealing with the known stratigraphic ranges of varied behaviors chiefly animal with a few plant and fungal and coevolved relations A significant part of the data consists of frozen behavior i e those in which an organism has been preserved while actually doing something as contrasted with the interpretations of behavior of an organism deduced from functional morphology important as the latter may be The conclusions drawn from this compilation suggest that both behaviors and coevolved relations appear infrequently following which there is relative fixity of the relation i e two rates of evolution very rapid and essentially zero This conclusion complies well with the author s prior conclusion that community evolution followed the same rate pattern In fact communities are regarded here as in large part expressions of both behavior and coevolved relations rather than as random aggregates controlled almost wholly by varied unrelated physical parameters tracked by organisms i e the concept that communities have no biologic reality being merely statistical abstractions The book is illustrated throughout with more than 400 photographs and drawings It will be of interest to ethologists evolutionists parasitologists paleontologists and palaeobiologists at research and post graduate levels

Silurian Cycles James Hall, 1998 Bringing Fossils To Life: An Introduction To Paleobiology Donald R. Prothero, 2004 This is the first text to combine both paleontology and paleobiology Traditional textbooks treat these separately despite the recent trend to combine them in teaching It bridges the gap between purely theoretical paleobiology and purely descriptive invertebrate paleontology books The text is targeted at undergraduate geology and biology majors with the emphasis on organisms rather than dead objects to be described and catalogued Current ideas from modern biology ecology population genetics and many other concepts will be applied to the study of the fossil record Shales and Mudstones: Basin studies, sedimentology, and paleontology Juergen Schieber, Winfried Zimmerle, Parvinder S. Sethi, 1998

Biotic Interactions in Recent and Fossil Benthic Communities Michael J.S. Tevesz, Peter L. McCall, 1983-10-31
Oxford Surveys in Evolutionary Biology Richard Dawkins, Mark Ridley, 1986 Communities of the Past Jane Gray, Arthur James Boucot, William B. N. Berry, 1981 Crustacea Frederick R. Schram, 1986 This is the first single author overview of all crustacean groups fossil and living since 1909 and the first phylogenetic systematic review Lavishly illustrated the book covers all known aspects of the anatomy feeding locomotion reproductive biology biogeography development fossil record and higher taxonomy of every currently recognized group An introductory chapter explains what a crustacean is and examines the relationships of old data to arrive at original conclusions about crustacean evolution Concluding chapters survey crustacean phylogeny and systematics using cladistic methods A comprehensive international bibliography is also included

Biogeography and Adaptation Geerat J. Vermeij, 1978 The driving forces of natural selection leave their traces in the shapes of living creatures and their patterns of distribution In this thoughtful and wide ranging discussion of evolutionary process and adaptive response Geerat Vermeij elucidates the general principles that underlie the great diversity of marine forms found in the world's great oceans The Modern Creation Trilogy: Science & creation Henry Madison Morris, John David Morris, 1996 Volume II Science Creation is a searchlight in the darkened room of evolutionary theory This book plainly examines the evidence for both naturalism and intelligent design Geologist's library Gérard Sustrac, 1984
