

Factors which influence development

Relationships are central to children's wellbeing and their learning, as sensitive adults engage in serve-and-return interactions and support and extend children's curiosity, learning, autonomy and self-regulation.

Children can thrive when they feel safe, valued and loved. Emotional self-regulation is a critical support for development and learning.

Good health and wellbeing enable children to participate in and enjoy learning experiences, and gain the most benefit.

Although development tends to follow predictable patterns overall, each child's journey will be an individual, winding pathway, unique to that child.

Children develop and learn through physical and mental engagement and challenges. They have agency in their involvement with other people, objects, ideas and events, and build working theories about the world around them.

Children's early experiences influence biological and neurological development and ability to learn.

A sense of belonging and place in the community provides a base for a child's developing identity and enhances learning.

informal settings as dinner table conversations walks through grocery stores museums or neighborhoods become rich laboratories for children to learn varied cognitive skills ranging from numeracy concepts and language The way in which those learning opportunities are provided by parents structured by parents and scaffolded by parents may well vary depending on culture and other socio demographic variables and may well vary depending on formal or informal settings The aim of this Research Topic is to bring together scholarship from both global north and global south contexts which explores how children learn via parental involvement in formal and informal settings To this end we are soliciting manuscripts from researchers which focus on examining the strategies that parents use as they engage their children in learning interactions address how they scaffold those interactions and consider how children participate in those interaction and move beyond laboratory observations to more naturalistic contexts for children learning through parent interaction Please note contributions can be of many different article types including Original Research Methods Opinion Hypothesis Theory etc
