Forgotten Rocket:

India's Forgotten Rocket Pioneer Gurbir Singh, 2020-01-01 During 1934 and 1944 in Calcutta Stephen Smith worked alone and unsupported on developing rocket transport In 1935 he was the first to demonstrate the successful transport by a rocket of livestock food and medicine This book charts the story of Stephen H Smith described by a contemporary as the greatest one man campaign for rocketry He dedicated his life to working alone in northeast India to develop a new revolutionary means of transport using only rocket power The development of rockets in India is commonly understood to have ended with Tipu Sultan in 1799 and started again in 1963 with what is now called the Indian Space Research Organisation However in the intervening period one man built and championed rockets working alone in Calcutta In 1925 he set up the Indian Air Mail Society and it is amongst the global philatelic community where his work is still known but is almost entirely forgotten from the popular imagination in India On 14 February 1891 Stephen H Smith the only son of a tea plantation manager originally from Norfolk England was born in the Strawberry Hill region of Shillong Between 1934 and 1944 he conducted over 200 rocket experiments to demonstrate the utility of a rocket as a means of transport Small self funded groups to develop rockets were established in USSR USA Britain Australia and Germany From these groups Sergei Korolev and Wernher von Braun emerged and competed in the epic space race that resulted in Sputnik Gagarin and Apollo 11 Stephen H Smith was their contemporary but worked alone and unsupported in India Long after he had died he was inducted into the Hall of Fame by the American Airmail Society in 1989 In 1992 a year after the centenary of his birth the Indian government celebrated his achievements by issuing a stamp and a first day cover dedicated to his work Today his work is found in official NASA publications the Journal of the British Interplanetary Society and the National Air and Space Museum This new study of his contacts with the King of Sikkim King George V with a member of parliament in London and a 25 year long correspondence with a Swiss philatelist reveals in his own words his struggle to attain recognition and support for his work His reluctant attempt to work with the military authorities in India during World War II ended in frustration His multiple attempts in 1949 to contact the Governor of Bengal and Prime Minister Nehru in the newly independent India failed to generate a response personal of all Leigh Fermor's books catching up with young Paddy in the fall of 1934 and following him through Bulgaria and Romania to the coast of the Black Sea Days and nights on the road spectacular landscapes and uncanny cities friendships lost and found leading the high life in Bucharest or camping out with fishermen and shepherds in the The Broken Road such incidents and escapades are described with all the linguistic bravura odd and astonishing learning and overflowing exuberance that Leigh Fermor is famous for but also with a melancholy awareness of the passage of time especially when he meditates on the scarred history of the Balkans or on his troubled relations with his father The book ends perfectly with Paddy's arrival in Greece the country he would fall in love with and fight for Throughout it we can still hear the ringing voice of an irrepressible young man embarking on a life of adventure
