Graffiti In Sachsen:

Graffiti art #12 Oliver Schwarzkopf,2000 It all started when the Academy of Fine Arts in Berlin started to prepare the exhibition Spray City in the included in X94 young art and culture Within the research for this event the authors discovered the unbelievable variety of this phenomenon called Graffiti A fantastic world of pictures complex multi layered philosophies and massive prejudices in all classes of the people were only some of the problems and contrasts that were met This led to the idea to continue researches in the field this uncommon transitory and still so vast new expression of art The result is a kind of an ongoing encyclopedia of Graffiti containing 14 volumes so far ECMT Round Tables Vandalism, Terrorism and Security in Urban Public Passenger Transport European Conference of Ministers of Transport,2003-06-02 The reader will find in this publication the recommendations which the Round Table made on ways to combat vandalism in urban public transport Das grosse Graffiti-Lexikon Bernhard van Treeck,2001 Künker Auktion 206 - Münzen und Medaillen der Neuzeit Fritz Rudolf Künker GmbH & Co. KG, ECMT Round Tables Vandalism, Terrorism and Security in Urban Public Passenger Transport European Conference of Ministers of Transport,2003-06-24 The reader will find in this publication the recommendations which the Round Table made on ways to combat vandalism namely the creation of local partnerships between all actors involved in crime prevention policing and law enforcement exchanges ECMT Round Tables Vandalism, Terrorism and Security in Urban Public Passenger Transport European Conference of Ministers of Transport. Economic Research Centre,2003-06-24 Beyond the immediate effect of reducing passengers insecurity safer public transport also means higher patronage during off peak hours less money spent on repairing damage lower staff absenteeism and less disruption to services Governments therefore cannot afford to disregard the problem of vandalism in public transport The reader will find in this publication the recommendations which the Round Table made on ways to combat vandalism namely the creation of local partnerships between all actors involved in crime prevention policing and law enforcement exchanges of experience the issuing of guidelines on crime prevention and infrastructure design and publication of case studies of successes and failures Classifying individual measures is therefore one of the tasks that national and international authorities faced with this growing problem urgently need to address Terrorism because of its distinctive nature and change in nature since the attacks of 11 September 2001 needs to be tackled on a much larger scale and therefore requires a different type of approach Here too there is clearly a need for international co operation and the Round Table identified a number of possible avenues to explore which the reader can learn more about from this publication Graffiti kontrovers ,2009 Graffiti Matthias Krüger,Katrin Höffler,2010 Kurt Biedenkopf Oliva Henkel,Alexander Wendt,1994 Region als Programm Wolfgang Lutz,2002 Verhandlungen des Deutschen Bundestages Germany. A United Europe of Things Jakub Sawicki, Michael Lewis, Mária Vargha, 2024-01-01 This volume studies high and late medieval material culture in a Pan European context The idea of unity of culture in Medieval Latin Europe is well known in historical texts especially when it concerns the so called Europe North of the Alps This book investigates the similarities and differences in material culture between areas regions and political entities and opens the dialogue for a more interregional discussion The editors acknowledge that there are numerous challenges in understanding the phenomenon the volume addresses the fundamental one being defining or even redefining a common material culture of Europe Important in determining this is greater appreciation of how objects reflect interactions between peoples both local and foreign which can be driven by a variety of factors including trade conflict and diplomacy etc But just as important is observing the differences between things across Europe reflecting developments and transformations its cultural social and economic history These works are traditionally presented in isolation or at the local level maybe even in very specialized tomes as often it is thought their observation are not relevant to wider discourses Conversely what is clear however is that by interconnecting these seemingly introvert studies of specific artefact types or sites etc readers can better appreciate the similarities and differences in material culture across Europe This book is of interest to researchers in archaeology and material culture

Heraldry in Urban Society Marcus Meer, 2024-09-19 Heraldry is often seen as a traditional prerogative of the nobility But it was not just knights princes kings and emperors who bore coats of arms to show off their status in the Middle Ages The merchants and craftsmen who lived in cities too adopted coats of arms and used heraldic customs including display and destruction to underline their social importance and to communicate political messages Medieval burgesses were part of a fascination with heraldry that spread throughout pre modern society and looked at coats of arms as honoured signs of genealogy and history Heraldry in Urban Society analyses the perceptions and functions of heraldry in medieval urban societies by drawing on both English and German language sources from the late fourteenth to the early sixteenth centuries Despite variations that point to socio political differences between cities and their citizens in the relatively centralized monarchy of medieval England and the more independent minded urban governments found in the less closely connected Holy Roman Empire urban heraldry emerges as a versatile and ubiquitous means of multimedia visual communication that spanned medieval Europe Urban heraldic practices defy assumptions about clearly demarcated social practices that belonged to high noble as opposed to low urban culture Townspeople s perceptions of coats of arms paralleled those of the nobility as they readily interpreted and carefully curated them as visual expressions of identity. These perceptions allowed townspeople of all ranks as well as noble outsiders to use heraldry and its display along with its defacement and destruction in manuscripts, spaces such as town houses, public monuments, halls and churches, and performances like processions and joyous entries to address perennial problems of urban society in the Middle Ages. The coats of arms of burgesses, guilds and cities were communicative means of individual and collective representation, social and political legitimization, conducting and resolving conflicts and the pursuit of elevated status in the urban hierarchy. Likewise, heraldic communication negotiated the all important relationship between the city and wider extramural society, from the commercial interests of citizens to their collective ties to the ruler.
