Action and Choice Walter E. Block, Ivan Jankovic, 2022-11-07 This textbook is based upon a philosophical method of logical deduction from basic principles such as scarcity individual choice and subjectivism This textbook attempts to show that all complex phenomena of economic theory such as prices of consumer goods and factors of production saving and consumption interest and profit can be explained by the same primitive psychological principles of scarcity and substitution on the margin that could be used to describe economizing Robinson Crusoe on a desert island or two cavemen catching fish or exchanging apples for oranges This textbook distils the essence of economic science prevailing in price theory before the 1930s which the authors argue is superior to currently popular mainstream theory into a readable and student friendly textbook format This is an introductory textbook written in the tradition of Menger Bohm Bawerk Mises and Hayek instead in the tradition of Alfred Marshall and John Maynard Keynes as almost all modern textbooks are The authors offer a text not predicated on physics envy on an attempt to liken economics to the physical sciences on the basis of empirical evidence statistics and verification The Fisheries and Fishery Industries of the United States George Brown Goode, 1887
