

Job Safety and Health IT'S THE LAW!

- All workers have the right to:
- A safe workplace.
 - Make safety or health concerns with your employer or OSHA, or report a work-related injury or illness, without being retaliated against.
 - Receive information and training on job hazards, including all known or potential substances in your workplace.
 - Request an OSHA inspection of your workplace if you believe there are unsafe or unhealthy conditions. OSHA will keep your name confidential. You have the right to have a representative contact OSHA on your behalf.
 - Participate or have your representative participate in an OSHA inspection and speak in private to the inspector.
 - File a complaint with OSHA within 30 days (or 180 days for retaliation) if you have been retaliated against for raising your rights.
 - See any OSHA citations issued to your employer.
 - Request copies of your medical records, tests that measure hazards in the workplace, and the workplace injury and illness log.

- Employers must:
- Provide employees a workplace free from recognized hazards. It is illegal to retaliate against an employee for raising any of their rights under this law, including raising a health and safety concern with you or with OSHA, or reporting a work-related injury or illness.
 - Comply with applicable OSHA standards.
 - Report to OSHA all work-related fatalities within 8 hours, and all inpatient hospitalizations, amputations and losses of an eye within 24 hours.
 - Provide required training to all workers in a language and vocabulary they can understand.
 - Properly display the poster in the workplace.
 - Post OSHA citations at or near the place of the alleged violation.

FREE ASSISTANCE to identify and correct hazards is available to small and medium-sized employers, without cost or penalty through OSHA-assisted consultation programs in many states.

Disability Minimum Wage

Disability Minimum Wage

Under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), employers are required to pay a minimum wage to all employees. However, there is an exception for employees who are unable to perform the essential functions of their job due to a physical or mental disability. This exception is known as the "disability minimum wage" and is set at a lower rate than the standard minimum wage.

Employers must determine if an employee is eligible for the disability minimum wage. This determination is based on whether the employee is unable to perform the essential functions of their job, even with reasonable accommodations. If an employee is eligible, the employer must pay the disability minimum wage, which is currently $2.13 per hour.

Federal Minimum Wage

Federal Minimum Wage

The Federal Minimum Wage is the lowest amount an employer is allowed to pay an employee. As of 2025, the federal minimum wage is $7.25 per hour. However, many states and localities have their own minimum wage laws, which may be higher than the federal rate. Employers must pay the highest minimum wage that applies to their employees.
