Between Birth and Death Michelle T. King, 2014-01-08 Female infanticide is a social practice often closely associated with Chinese culture Journalists social scientists and historians alike emphasize that it is a result of the persistence of son preference from China's ancient past to its modern present Yet how is it that the killing of newborn daughters has come to be so intimately associated with Chinese culture Between Birth and Death locates a significant historical shift in the representation of female infanticide during the nineteenth century It was during these years that the practice transformed from a moral and deeply local issue affecting communities into an emblematic cultural marker of a backwards Chinese civilization requiring the scientific religious and political attention of the West Using a wide array of Chinese French and English primary sources the book takes readers on an unusual historical journey presenting the varied perspectives of those concerned with the fate of an unwanted Chinese daughter a late imperial Chinese mother in the immediate moments following birth a male Chinese philanthropist dedicated to rectifying moral behavior in his community Western Sinological experts preoccupied with determining the comparative prevalence of the practice Catholic missionaries and schoolchildren intent on saving the souls of heathen Chinese children and turn of the century reformers grappling with the problem as a challenge for an emerging nation Drowning Girls in China D. E. Mungello, 2008-06-27 This groundbreaking book offers the first full analysis of the long neglected and controversial subject of female infanticide in China Although infanticide and child abandonment were worldwide phenomena from antiquity down to the nineteenth century when massive numbers of children were still being abandoned in Europe China was unique in targeting girls almost exclusively Yet despite its persistence for two thousand years little has been published on a practice that is deeply sensitive within China and little understood by outsiders Drawing on little known Chinese documents and illustrations noted historian D E Mungello describes the causes and continuation of female infanticide since 1650 despite efforts by Confucian moralists Buddhist teachings government officials and even imperial edicts to stop the practice The arrival of Christian missionaries led to foreign involvement as well with Catholic priests baptizing abandoned and dying infants in Nanjing and Beijing beginning in the early 1600s Mission efforts peaked in the nineteenth century when the European based Society of the Holy Childhood urged Catholic children to contribute their pennies to help neglected children in China However most of the infant victims were drowned at birth in the privacy of their homes thereby escaping the scrutiny of the law and the public Mungello brings this secretive practice to light with a nuanced and balanced analysis of the cultural economic and social causes of early infanticide and its contemporary manifestation in sex selected abortion as a result of the government's one child policy Presenting female infanticide as a human rather than a distinctly Chinese problem he estimates the tragic loss of girls in the millions Understanding Circumcision George C. Denniston, Frederick Mansfield Hodges, Marilyn Fayre Milos, 2001-10-31 Proceedings of the Sixth International Symposium on Genital Integrity Safeguarding Fundamental Human Rights in the 21st Century held December 7-9 2000 in Sydney Australia The Lifeways of Hunter-Gatherers Robert L. factors that endanger the lives of young children by far the most difficult to examine with any degree of dispassionate objectivity is the quality of parenting Historians and social scientists no less than the public at large are influenced by old cultural myths about childhood innocence and mother love as well as their opposites The terrible power and significance attributed to maternal behavior in particular is a commonsense perception based on the observation that the human infant specialized as it is for prematurity and prolonged dependency simply cannot survive for very long without considerable maternal love and care The infant's life depends to a very great extent on the good will of others but most especially of course that of the mother Consequently it has been the fate of mothers throughout history to appear in strange and distorted forms They may appear as larger than life or as invisible as all powerful and destructive or as helpless and angelic Myths of the maternal instinct compete historically with myths of a universal infanticidal impulse
