Maurice Harold Grant,1958 The English Landscape Garden David Jarrett,1978 The English Garden Hans von Trotha,2024-11-05 An introduction to the history of landscape gardening in Britain in the 18th century Garden design in England was entirely reinvented during the eighteenth century The strictly symmetrical gardens of the French Baroque were replaced by artificial landscapes that soon became almost indistinguishable from natural scenery This ideal image of nature conceived by eighteenth century English landscape gardeners still governs our notion of what constitutes a beautiful landscape today The English Garden is a journey through the history of the English garden by introducing twelve of the most important original and beautiful private parklands in Britain all of which can be visited today On the way readers learn how the new landscape garden was born out of a spirit of political opposition during the period Farmhouses in the English Landscape Sir William Wilkinson Addison,1986 Catalogue of Modern Wood-engravings Victoria and Albert Museum. Department of Engraving, Illustration, and Design,Martin Hardie,1919 Publication Victoria and Albert Museum,1919 The English Landscape Garden Miles Hadfield,1977 It is said that the only great aesthetic contribution made to the arts by the English is the landscape garden In England in the eighteenth century the conventional formal gardens planned on a rigidly geometric basis and owing much to the influence of Andre Le Notre Louis XIV's great designer at Versailles were within a comparatively short period swept away so thoroughly that only a handful remain in recognizable form today and they were replaced by gardens of the type the French called le jardin anglais This book explain the factors that caused this revolution how English aristocrats making the Grand Tour of Europe wanted their estates to resemble the classical landscapes depicted by continental painters how the attitude of cultured people towards rugged countryside and untamed nature changed from fear and hatred to romantic awe how political dislike of the power of the French monarchy led to a reaction against the French style of gardening Mr Hadfield quotes from Addison and Pope who inveighed against the formal style and advocated gardens more in sympathy with nature and he follows the development of the English style at Castle the pioneering personalities both landowners men such as the Earl of Carlisle Viscount Cobham and Henry Hoare and those they employed Charles Bridgeman William Kent Lancelot Brown Humphry Repton The widespread work of Capability Brown and Repton can still be seen in many places today but they were not without their critics Amongst these Richard Payne Knight and Uvedale Price condemned the bareness of their landscapes and proposed more colorful and picturesque planting The influence of Knight and Price is clear in the great gardens created in the twentieth century such as Sheffield Park and Bodnant and Mr Hadfield concludes with an account of these and other modern versions of the English landscape garden Publisher The Review of English Studies ,1927 Includes a section Summary of periodical literature The English Flower Garden William Robinson,1900 The English-speaking World ,1926 English House Grounds Mabel Parsons,Eugene Clute,1924 The English Illustrated Magazine ,1891 History of English Literature Hippolyte Taine,1871 A History of English Literature from Beowulf to 1926 William Vaughn Moody, Robert Morss Lovett,1926
