English Diplomatic Practice in the Middle Ages Pierre Chaplais,1981-07-01 Though many historians date the practice of diplomacy to the Renaissance Pierre Chaplais shows that medieval kings relied on a network of diplomats and special envoys to conduct international relations War peace marriage agreements ransoms trade and many other matters all had to be negotiated To do this a remarkably sophisticated system of diplomacy developed during the Middle Ages Chaplais describes how diplomacy worked in practice how ambassadors and other envoys were chosen how and where they traveled and how the authenticity of their messages was known in a world before passports and photographs

Anglo-Papal Relations in the Early Fourteenth Century Barbara Bombi,2019-07-23 This volume is concerned with diplomacy between England and the papal curia during the first phase of the Anglo French conflict known as the Hundred Years War 1305 1360 On the one hand Barbara Bombi compares how the practice of diplomacy conducted through both official and unofficial diplomatic communications developed in England and at the papal curia alongside the formation of bureaucratic systems On the other hand she questions how the Anglo French conflict and political change during the reigns of Edward II and Edward III impacted on the growth of diplomatic services both in England and the papal curia Through the careful examination of archival and manuscript sources preserved in English French and Italian archives this book argues that the practice of diplomacy in fourteenth century Europe nurtured the formation of a shared language of diplomacy The latter emerged from the need to translate different traditions thanks to the adaptation of house styles formularies and ceremonial practices as well as through the contribution of intermediaries and diplomatic agents acquainted with different diplomatic and legal traditions This argument is mostly demonstrated in the second part of the book where the author examines four relevant case studies the papacy s move to France after the election of Pope Clement V 1305 and the succession of Edward II to the English throne 1307 Anglo papal relations between the war of St Sardos 1324 and the deposition of Edward II in 1327 the outbreak of the Hundred Years Wars in 1337 and lastly the conclusion of the first phase of the war which was marked in 1360 by the agreement between England and France known as the Treaty of Br tigny Calais

Reframing Treaties in the Late Medieval and Early Modern West ,2025-08-02 The history of peacemaking has traditionally been reduced to isolated case studies and seen as the prelude to the presumed universal and modern international order Countering this one dimensional and Eurocentric narrative this multi authored volume reconceptualizes peace treaties as a range of successful and failed agreements settlements truces leagues and other forms of conflict resolution thus recovering their multilayered history throughout the medieval and early modern period Rather than a series of great treaties peacemaking is reframed as a flexible phenomenon a political grammar whose complexity is reflected in its variety of forms and sources Drawing on both diplomatic history and international relations studies this volume traces the central role that peacemaking has played in the political history of the Western World Flanders and the Anglo-Norman World, 1066-1216 Eljas Oksanen,2012-09-13 This book explores the relations and exchanges between Flanders and the Anglo Norman realm following the union of England and Normandy in 1066 England and the Avignon Popes Karsten Plöger,2005 Much has been written about the complex relationship between England and the papacy in the 14th century yet the form rather than the content of the diplomatic intercourse between these two protagonists has not hitherto been examined in detail Drawing on a wide range of unpublished sources Plüger explores the techniques of communication employed by the Crown in its dealings with Clement VI 1342 52 and Innocent VI 1352 62 Methodologies of social and cultural history and of International Relations are brought to bear on the analysis of the dialogue between Westminster and Avignon resulting in a more complete picture of 14th century Anglo papal relations in particular and of medieval diplomatic practice in general The Journal of Ecclesiastical History Clifford William Dugmore,2005 Peace and Protection in the Middle Ages Thomas Benedict Lambert,David W. Rollason,Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies,2009 That kings prelates and even lowly freemen were under certain specified conditions capable of offering protection or peace to others usually their inferiors is relatively well known That a breach of this protection might entitle or indeed oblige the protector to take action against the violator is similarly well understood However this protective dynamic has rarely received direct scholarly attention despite its being evident in an extraordinary range of contexts The emotional aspects of protection the honour and love associated with the bond it creates and the shame and anger that accompany its breach resonate in both heroic and chivalric ideals whilst in legal fiction at least the king s protection or peace would come to underpin the common law of trespass Such a broad sweep taking in social legal religious and cultural elements suggests that protection as a concept may have a wider significance than its marginal role in current historiography would indicate Indeed the influence of protection both in forming social bonds and in providing a framework for the legitimate use of force suggests that the concept could serve as a valuable counterpoint to more traditional institutional understandings of power This book explores peace and protection as a fundamental motor of medieval society across a broad geographical and chronological span brings together literary legal and historical studies making use of a wide range of approaches and focuses scholarly attention as never before on the concept of peace and protection viewed in relation to kings and lords charity and mercy and the action of feud and vendetta Medieval Petitions W. M. Ormrod,Gwilym Dodd,Anthony Musson,2009 New research into petitions and petitioning in the middle ages illuminating aspects of contemporary law and justice The mechanics politics and culture of petitioning in the middle ages are examined in this innovative collection In addition to important and wide ranging examinations of the ancient world and the medieval papacy it focuses particularly on petitions to the English crown in the later middle ages drawing on a major collection of documents made newly accessible to research in the National Archives A series of studies explores the political contexts of petitioning the broad geographical and social range of petitioners and the fascinating worm s eye view of medieval life that is uniquely offered by petitions themselves and particular attention is given to the performative qualities of petitioning and its place in the culture of royal intercession With their vivid new insights into judicial conventions and the legal creativity spawned by political crisis these papers provide a closely integrated assessment of current scholarship and new research on these most fascinating and revealing of medieval social texts CONTRIBUTORS W MARK ORMROD GWILYM DODD SERENA CONNOLLY BARBARA BOMBI PATRICK ZUTSHI PAUL BRAND GUILHEM PEPIN ANTHONY MUSSON SIMON J HARRIS SHELAGH A SNEDDON DAVID CROOK
