Toxic Timescapes Simone M. Müller, May-Brith Ohman Nielsen, 2023-01-17 An interdisciplinary environmental humanities volume that explores human environment relationships on our permanently polluted planet While toxicity and pollution are ever present in modern daily life politicians juridical systems media outlets scholars and the public alike show great difficulty in detecting defining monitoring or generally coming to terms with them This volume s contributors argue that the source of this difficulty lies in the struggle to make sense of the intersecting temporal and spatial scales working on the human and more than human body while continuing to acknowledge race class and gender in terms of global environmental justice and social inequality The term toxic timescapes refers to this intricate intersectionality of time space and bodies in relation to toxic exposure As a tool of analysis it unpacks linear understandings of time and explores how harmful substances permeate temporal and physical space as both event and process It equips scholars with new ways of creating data and conceptualizing the past present and future presence and possible effects of harmful substances and provides a theoretical framework for new environmental narratives To think in terms of toxic timescapes is to radically shift our understanding of toxicants in the complex web of life Toxicity pollution and modes of exposure are never static therefore dose timing velocity mixture frequency and chronology matter as much as the geographic location and societal position of those exposed Together these factors create a specific toxic timescape that lies at the heart of each contributor s narrative Contributors from the disciplines of history human geography science and technology studies philosophy and political ecology come together to demonstrate the complex reality of a toxic existence Their case studies span the globe as they observe the intersection of multiple times and spaces at such diverse locations as former battlefields in Vietnam aging nuclear weapon storage facilities in Greenland waste deposits in southern Italy chemical facilities along the Gulf of Mexico and coral breeding laboratories across the world

To the End of Revolution Xiaoyuan Liu, 2020-07-07 The status of Tibet is one of the most controversial and complex issues in the history of modern China In To the End of Revolution Xiaoyuan Liu draws on unprecedented access to the archives of the Chinese Communist Party to offer a groundbreaking account of Beijing s evolving Tibet policy during the critical first decade of the People s Republic Liu details Beijing s overarching strategy toward Tibet the last frontier for the Communist revolution to reach He analyzes how China s new leaders drew on Qing and Nationalist legacies as they attempted to resolve a problem inherited from their predecessors Despite acknowledging that religion ethnicity and geography made Tibet distinct Beijing nevertheless forged ahead zealously implementing socialist revolution while vigilantly guarding against real and perceived enemies Seeking to wait out local opposition before choosing to ruthlessly crush Tibetan resistance in the late 1950s Beijing eventually incorporated Tibet into its sociopolitical system The international and domestic ramifications however are felt to this day Liu offers new insight into the Chinese Communist Party s relations with the Dalai Lama ethnic revolts across the vast Tibetan plateau and the suppression of the Lhasa Rebellion in 1959 Placing Beijing s approach to Tibet in the contexts of the Communist Party s treatment of ethnic minorities and China s broader domestic and foreign policies in the early Cold War To the End of Revolution is the most detailed account to date of Chinese thinking and acting on Tibet during the 1950s Arctic Abstractive Industry Arthur Mason,2022-04-08 Through diverse engagements with natural resource extraction and ecological vulnerability in the contemporary Arctic contributors to this volume apprehend Arctic resource regimes through the concept of abstraction Abstraction refers to the creation of new material substances and cultural values by detaching parts from existing substances and values The abstractive process differs from the activity of extractive industries by its focus on the conceptual resources that conceal processes of exploitation associated with extraction The study of abstraction can thus help us attune to the formal operations that make appropriations of value possible while disclosing the politics of extraction and of its representation Quartet for Three Voices James Applewhite,2002-03-01 James Applewhite integrates personal experience with his wide historical literary and scientific knowledge to trace the transformation from an older South to a new from the segregated small town world of his grandparents chickenyard and garden to the contemporary reality of Stealth technology and the Oklahoma City bombing Applewhite s insights alternate between subtle and stark as he meditates on three interrelated themes the World War II era absent father the legacy of racism and the shift from an agrarian society to a technological one In clear and lyrical language the poet moves with ease between his own life politics historical change and the natural world Representing a lineage that includes slaveholders tobacco farmers and a great grandfather wounded at Chancellorsville he deconstructs racist mythologies and identifies the leading and misleading of the nation into military triumph space flight and tragedy by such problematic father figures as Henry Ford Franklin D Roosevelt and Wernher von Braun Applewhite also reimagines the flawed past as a basis for more livable future the restoration of a missing voice in the harmonizing of opposed elements in the South s historical consciousness As described in the book s pivotal poem The Deed after selling his father s farm he lays to rest the guilt of inheritance and relocates rootedness to a home shared with his wife beside the Eno River in northern Durham County Fantasy Annual V Terry Carr,1982 ECLIPSES To Be Announced,1983-06-01 An anthropologist searches the wilderness of the planet of Serensunar for traces of an expedition of explorers who mysteriously disappeared Empire of the Atom Alfred Elton Van Vogt,1983 Science Fiction Book Review Index H.
