Exploring Child Development Transactions And Transformations:

Exploring Child Development Richard A. Fabes, Carol Lynn Martin, 2002 This book presents findings from current scientific research in child development highlighting how scientists tackle issues that impact children and their families The authors have integrated examples of diversity throughout the book in the domains of physical psychological and cultural differences gender race ethnicity and social and economic status Community and social issues are also covered extensively which help readers to think critically about their world As many readers of this book are pursuing careers as teachers care providers or parents the authors focus the material on these real world applications and demonstrate how theory and research matter for what readers need in their own lives For those involved in the fields of early childhood education

Exploring Child Development Fabes, Andrew Martin, 1999-08 Children's Agency and Development in African Societies Ofosu-Kus, Yaw, 2017-07-19 This book focuses on African childhood and youth within the context of development and socialization where children are expected to be moulded in the image of adults In many African societies children are generally held as passive bearers of the demands of adults regardless of the fact that they are often exposed to a multitude of challenges that originate from the capriciousness of those adults However buoyed by international conventions and national legislations that offer them greater protection and the ubiquitous internet that exposes them to childhood and youth experiences elsewhere many of them are increasingly becoming assertive in homes schools and communities as well as reinvigorating their survival and self preservation instincts It is in this regard that this book through the various chapters engages with their competencies skills and creativity to respond to experiential challenges as independent migrants or ones under coercion working in city streets and markets or cocoa farms or juggling work and schooling in pursuit of some education Confronted with their parents and siblings health predicaments and the inadequacies of state and familial care or urgent negotiation of their sexualities they demonstrate incredible resilience Similarly their perceptiveness is demonstrated in a unique appreciation of politics and its actors and a capacity to assume responsibilities beyond their chronological age Thus while highlighting some of the challenges confronting African children the book provides gripping evidence of how they resiliently negotiate those challenges
