Transactions of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers Society of Motion Picture Engineers,1923 The Depictive Image Phillip Stambovsky,1988 In scholarly writing on metaphor there is a great gap between literary theory and critical practice Phillip Stambovsky here attempts to close that gap by presenting a theory of literary metaphor that is grounded in actual literary experience Stambovsky begins by critically reviewing the most well known and influential theories of metaphor including those based on notions of comparison substitution transfer analogy semantic interaction and context He then introduces a phenomenology of literary experience drawing from the writings of Whitehead Cassirer Merleau Ponty Sartre and Frye among others With this as his theoretical foundation Stambovsky stresses the primacy of presentational awareness in literary experience arguing for the reader s collaborative involvement in the creation of textual meaning In the third chapter Stambovsky examines how literary imagery functions in narrative discourse showing how Henry James s imagery in The Golden Bowl depictively renders the relationships of characters their thoughts and their feelings so that the reader perceives them with the immediacy and aesthetic impact of perceptual as opposed to conceptual experience Turning to the very concept of depictive imagery Stambovsky next discusses experiential approaches to metaphor particularly those of Marcus Hester and George Yoos He concludes his study with an explication of a metaphor centered in the closing line of Dickinson s poem A Bird Came Down the Walk Unity,1920 The Appreciation of Pictures Walter Hughes Klar,Theodore Milton Dillaway,1930 The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman,James Edwin Creighton,Frank Thilly,Gustavus Watts Cunningham,1912 An international journal of general philosophy The Insurance Record,1929
