but by mean length of utterance This volume treats the first two stages Stage I is the threshold of syntax when children begin to combine words to make sentences These sentences Brown shows are always limited to the same small set of semantic relations nomination recurrence disappearance attribution possession agency and a few others Stage II is concerned with the modulations of basic structural meanings modulations for number time aspect specificity through the gradual acquisition of grammatical morphemes such as inflections prepositions articles and case markers Fourteen morphemes are studied in depth and it is shown that the order of their acquisition is almost identical across children and is predicted by their relative semantic and grammatical complexity It is ultimately the intent of this work to focus on the nature and development of knowledge knowledge concerning grammar and the meanings coded by grammar knowledge inferred from performance from sentences and the settings in which they are spoken and from signs of comprehension or incomprehension of sentences
