Glozel Bones Of Contention:

Glozel Alice Gerard, 2005 Alice Gerard has crossed the Atlantic a dozen times in the last ten years in her efforts to help solve the mystery of the controversial French site of Glozel which has been called the Dreyfus Affair of archaeology. Accusations of fraud made by members of the archaeological establishment have contributed to the stormy history of the site during the last 80 years. Glozel describes the exhaustive attempts Alice and her husband have made working with other researchers to understand the tombs, the tablets covered with unknown writing, the bones engraved with reindeer and the phallic idols found at the site. In the process the Gerards made and lost good friends, became informed about a number of esoteric subjects and finally developed a theory that might explain Glozel. The story is not finished; they hope the site will be recognized as authentic while Emile Fradin, who discovered the first artifacts in 1924, is still alive. Alfred Loisy and the Making of History of Religions Annelies Lannoy, 2020-08-10 This monograph studies the professionalization of History of Religions as an academic discipline in late 19th and early 20th century France and Europe. Its common thread is the work of the French Modernist priest and later Professor of History of Religions at the Collège de France, Alfred Loisy (1857-1940), who participated in many of the most topical debates among French and international historians of religions. Unlike his well-studied Modernist theology, Loisy's writings on comparative religion and his rich interactions with famous scholars like F. Cumont, M. Mauss, or J. G. Frazer remain largely unknown. This monograph is the first to paint a comprehensive picture of his career as a historian of religions before and after his excommunication in 1908. Through a contextual analysis of publications by Loisy and contemporaries and a large corpus of private correspondence, it illuminates the scientification of the discipline between 1890-1920 and its deep entanglement with religion, politics, and society. Particular attention is also given to the role of national and transnational scholarly networks and the way they controlled the theoretical and institutional frameworks for studying the history of religions. The Archaeologist In-Between Anna Källén, Johan Hegardt, 2021-09-30 Olov Janse was an archaeologist with a remarkable life. From his birth in Sweden (1892) to his death in the United States (1985), he travelled several times across the world and was present in some of the most important episodes of 20th century world history. His works and networks connected museums and political institutions in Sweden, France, Vietnam, and the United States: from the Swedish History Museum, the Museum of Far Eastern Antiquities, the French Musée des Antiquités Nationales, the Cernuschi Museum, and the French research institute EFEO in Hanoi to UNESCO, the Harvard Peabody Museum, the Smithsonian Institution, and the U.S. Department of State. He left behind artefacts and documents in museum collections and archives across the world. But his name is largely unknown, and his most important contributions—the connection of people and ideas between continents and contexts—have remained invisible in historical accounts of all these institutions. He was, in every sense, an archaeologist in between. This book follows in the footsteps of Olov Janse and his wife Renée as they move between continents and contexts, connecting key actors and institutions in social and professional networks across the world. It tells the formidable story of an archaeologist navigating through world politics from a late 19th century industrial town in Sweden to early 20th century Parisian museums to French Indochina and the Philippines in the 1930s to the formation of UNESCO in 1946 and ending with public diplomacy for the U S Department of State at the verge of the Vietnam War

Fakers, Forgers & Phoneys Magnús Magnússon, 2006 In Fakers, Forgers and Phoneys Magnus Magnusson masterfully explores the shadowy world of deception and counterfeiting Through the 16 case studies in this intriguing collection the author reveals how a house painter cum art restorer fooled the art world and became a national TV celebrity in 1979 the identity of the person who fabricated the missing link human skull which was discovered in a gravel pit at Piltdown in Essex in 1912 how a mystery man known by the unlikely name of George Psalmanazar fooled the London literary world in 1704 with his lurid accounts of cannibalism and polygamy in his native island of Formosa Taiwan how an obese cockney adventurer resident in Australia succeeded in passing himself off as a slim young English aristocrat who had disappeared more than ten years earlier in 1854 The Tichborne Claimant and how a suave London conman inveigled a struggling artist to become involved in the greatest British art scam of the twentieth century Fakers, Forgers and Phoneys is the essential guide to the most ingenious art and literary forgeries archaeological frauds and guiding principle of the Linz Celtology Meeting 2005 Linzer Keltologentagung 2005 was that Celtology should not be considered an extension of Indo European Studies nor a discipline that should be classified under Prehistoric and Early History To the greatest extent possible research on the Celts should apply the true meanings of integrated and interdisciplinary thus encompassing the most important and the largest number of Celtic cultural manifestations possible Not only those ethnic groups that in ancient times were considered Celts or belonging to the Celts should be taken into account but also those that have been described as Island Celts since the early modern period namely those from the British Isles Ireland and Brittany as based on their common original language Thus the volume deals with evidence and problems concerning archaeology history linguistics literature and the history of religions although methodological questions and more general questions of ethno genesis gender the reception of the Celts etc are also included In order to create an all around picture of the Celts forty eight internationally known German speaking representatives of the Celtic scientific community from Russia to Ireland have submitted their work A broad picture of Celtology as based on cultural studies is thereby presented Then again there are also clashing and contradictory research results revealing Celtology to be a very lively field Thus the anthology with its broad and solidly discussed range of topics should speak to many interested parties It will soon tempt more questions and will become an essential handbook for all those interested in research on the Celts Research
