Language and Conscious Experience W. H. Sparks, W.H. Sparks, 2010-02 Language and Conscious Experience is a philosophical theory of consciousness The book presents a theory that accommodates every aspect of consciousness and conscious experience The aspects referred to are perception imagery including memory and dreams feelings emotion and the acquisition and development of language including the origination of meaning The nature of consciousness is the energies detected by sensory receptors The nature of conscious experience is the detection by spindle receptors of energies developed and enhanced in intrafusal muscle spindles We experience the environment in the form of sensations sight hearing taste smell and touch to use the common and traditional identifications Consciousness is experienced by the detection of intrafusal muscle spindles The spindle receptor detection is analogous to the detection of the environment by sensory receptors The difference of course is that we are conscious as the detection of the intrafusal spindles The purpose of the neuromuscular system is response to the energies of the environment The purpose of the intrafusal spindles is to control the neuromuscular system Efferent impulse activity from synaptic activity enhances the intrafusal spindles that can then be detected as conscious experience Energies developed in the intrafusal spindles are determined by the innervation of the system When enhanced from configured synaptic activity the innervation is modified by the synaptic activity configured by experience

Veronika Prinzo, 2010 In 1998 the International Civil Aviation Organization took a heightened interest in the role of language in airline accidents Member states agreed to take steps to ensure air traffic control personnel and flight crews involved in flight operations in airspace where the use of the English language is required were proficient in conducting and comprehending radiotelephony communications in English This report is a compilation of written responses and comments by U S pilots from American Continental Delta and United Airlines of their difficulties in international operations In this report the pilots responses to questions 46-53 are presented as a compiled narrative Their responses had eight major thrusts from which we derived the following five recommendations 1 Adopt a standard dialect for use in ATC communications 2 All trainees and current certified professional controllers successfully complete instruction and training in the principles of voice production and articulation as it relates to ATC communication 3 Define an optimal rate of speech for use by certified professional controllers when communicating with pilots Research is needed to provide guidance on the optimal rate of speech for different populations of speakers U S Foreign 4 Develop new standard phraseology for non routine events Generally the controller needs to have the pilot answer one question What do you need from me The controller would coordinate the appropriate actions to provide the pilot with what is needed 5 Controllers should be discouraged from using local jargon slang idiomatic expressions and other forms of conversational communications when transmitting messages to pilots Although colorful and fun they have no place in air traffic control and diminish situational awareness can lead to requests for repeat and otherwise disrupt information transfer Report documentation page Creative Communicative Experience Laurie Anne Vela,1991 The Best Stories of Sarah Orne Jewett Sarah Orne Jewett,1924 *Early Childhood Experiences in Language Arts + Mindtap Education, 1 Term 6 Month Printed Access Card , ...
