Gertrud Kolmar:

My Gaze Is Turned Inward Gertrud Kolmar, 2004-08-26 So a picture of Gertrud Kolmar a gifted Jewish writer struggling to sustain her art and family emerges from these eloquent and allusive letters Written in the stolen moments before her day as a forced laborer in a munitions factory began the letters tell of Kolmar's move from the family home in Finkenkrug to a three room flat in Berlin which she and her father must soon share with other displaced Jews They describe her factory work as a learning experience and assert in the face of ever worsening conditions that true art never dependent on comfort or peace is capable of triumphing over time and place

Gertrud Kolmar Dieter Kühn, 2013-03-31 Linda Marianiello here translates into English for the first time Dieter Kühn's highly praised and definitive biography of one of Germany's greatest poets Gertrud Kolmar Kolmar carried German language poetry to new heights speaking truth in a time when many poets collapsed in the face of increasing Nazi repression Born Gertrud Kolmar Chodziesner in Berlin in 1894 she completed her first collection Poems in 1917 She took her pen name Kolmar from the name of the town where her family originated Kolmar's third collection of poems appeared in 1938 but soon disappeared in the wake of the overall repression of Jewish authors At the time she served as secretary to her father Ludwig Chodziesner a prominent lawyer In 1941 the Nazis compelled her to work in a German armaments factory Even as a forced laborer the strength of her poetic voice grew perhaps reaching its highest level before her deportation to Auschwitz From gentle nature verses to stirring introspection these are poems in which we can still find ourselves today Both she and her father died in Nazi concentration camps he in 1942 she the following year The translation of Dieter Kühn's biography conveys the tragic yet courageous life of a great poet to an English speaking audience

Selected Poems of Gertrud Kolmar Gertrud Kolmar, 1970

Dark Soliloquy Gertrud Kolmar, 1975 Gertrude Chodziesner Kolmar was born in Berlin on December 10 1894 Her life in its remoteness from great events and literary circles resembled that of Emily Dickinson and her poetry of which so little was published during her lifetime remained virtually unknown until years after her death She wrote her best work during the 1930s an unlucky hour for a German poet and a hopelessly tragic one for a German Jew Unable to escape the Third Reich she was first sentenced to hard labor in a munitions factory and then deported to Auschwitz in 1943 and murdered Gertrud Kolmar sought refuge in the eternities of the physical world her poetic concerns orbit ceaselessly around a few central themes the nature of woman and her passions the wonders of the earth and sea and their animal inhabitants

War, Violence, and the Modern Condition Bernd-Rüdiger Hüppauf, 1997 This volume will explore the specific role which war has played in the constitution of a modern mentality It will be divided into three parts one dealing with issues of conceptualizing war violence and modernity modernism one devoted to issues of the First World War as an exemplary experience in the 20th century and one concerned with issues of violence and its representation in the aftermath of the first modern war Welten Gertrud Kolmar,2012 Welten Worlds is a cycle of poems written in the second half of 1937 by Gertrud Kolmar who was to perish six years later in Auschwitz The manuscript was passed in 1947 by her brother in law to Peter Suhrkamp publisher at Suhrkamp Verlag now Germany's premier literary press and was one of the first books to appear from Suhrkamp after the war Gertrud Kathe Chodziesner 1894 1943 known by the nom de plume Gertrud Kolmar was a German Jewish poet who was born in Berlin and died in Auschwitz The Shimmering Crystal Gertrud Kolmar,1995

Transforming the Center, Eroding the Margins Dagmar C. G. Lorenz, Renate S. Posthofen,1998 Transforming the Center Eroding the Margins is a collection of critical articles about recent and contemporary German literature designed to stimulate discussion about German speaking culture from the point of view of diversity The combination of broad historical approaches and detailed textual analyses made it possible to present in this volume a spectrum of identities and positions within the German speaking sphere and sometimes even within the work of a single author Examining the works of German speaking authors of different backgrounds and countries of residence from many different points of view shows that the very concept of a unified German Culture is a construct Because of the increasing visibility of various ethnic religious cultural and economic groups including migrant workers exiles and immigrants multiculturalism and cultural diversity in Central Europe have received considerable attention in public debates since the disintegration of the Eastern bloc and the fall of the Berlin Wall Yet neither cultural diversity nor the gender issues examined throughout the volume are recent phenomena Upon closer scrutiny the notions of center and margin are shown to have origins in the nineteenth century and before The articles in this volume distinct in their approaches and each one concerned with specific situations reveal an ongoing decline of mainstream discourse the erosion of the cultural center and a strengthening of what continues to be referred to as marginal The literary and intellectual production of groups that are seen as marginal is becoming ever more compelling and visible as is documented in Transforming the Center Eroding the Margins Gertrud Kolmar Bernhardt George Blumenthal,1969

Sophie Discovers Amerika Robert B. McFarland, Michelle Stott James,2014 Cultural and literary historians investigate the unique literary bridge between German speaking women and the New World examining novels films travel literature poetry erotica and photography In a 1798 novel by Sophie von La Roche a European woman swims across a cold North American lake seeking help from the local indigenous tribe to deliver a baby In a 2008 San Francisco travel guide Milena Moser the self proclaimed Patron Saint of Desperate Swiss Housewives ponders the guilty pleasures of a media saturated world Wildly disparate these two texts reveal the historical arc of a much larger literary constellation the literature of German speaking women who interact with the New World In this volume cultural historians from around the world investigate this unique literary bridge between two hemispheres focusing on New World texts written by female authors from Germany Austria or Switzerland Encompassing a broad range of genres including novels films travel literature poetry erotica and even photography the essays include women s experiences across both American continents Many of the primary literary texts discussed in this volume are available in the online collections of Sophie A Digital Library of Works by German Speaking Women <http://sophie.byu.edu> Contributors Christiane Arndt Karin Baumgartner Ute Bettray Ulrike Brisson Carola Daffner Denise M Della Rossa Linda Dietrick Silke R Falkner Maureen O Gallagher Nicole Grewling Monika Hohbein Deegen Gabi Kathfer Thomas W Kniesche Julie Koser Judith E Martin Sarah C Reed Christine Rinne Tom Spencer Florentine Strzelczyk David Tingey Petra Watzke Chantal Wright Rob McFarland and Michelle Stott James are both Associate Professors of German at Brigham Young University

Spatial Turns Jaimey Fisher, Barbara Caroline Mennel, 2010 The phrase spatial turns signals the growing importance of space as an analytical as well as representational category for culture The volume addresses such emerging modes of inquiry by bringing together for the first time essays that engage with spatial turns spatiality and the theoretical implications of both in the context of German culture history and theory Migrating from fields like geography urban studies and architecture the new centrality of space has transformed social science fields as diverse as sociology philosophy and psychology In cultural studies productive analyses of space increasingly cut across the studies of literature film popular culture and the visual arts Spatial Turns brings together essays that apply a spatial analysis to German literature and other media and engages with specifically German theorizations of space by such figures as Siegfried Kracauer and Walter Benjamin The volume is organized in four sections Mapping Spaces addresses cartography in all forms and in its intersection with culture Spaces of the Urban takes up one of the key sites of spatial studies the city Spaces of Encounter considers how Germany has become a contact zone for multiple ethnicities and Visualized Spaces concerns the theorization of space in film and new media studies

Gertrud Kolmar: the woman and the beasts Jacob Picard, 1950

Women Writers in German-Speaking Countries Elke P. Frederiksen, Elizabeth G. Ametsbichler, 1998-02-28 Women have contributed to the literature of German speaking countries since the Middle Ages and they continue to write important works at the close of the 20th century While research on texts by women writers in German speaking countries has increased substantially most of these authors remain virtually unknown to English speaking scholars and students The first work of its kind in English this reference book contains alphabetically arranged entries for 54 Austrian German and Swiss women writers such as Hrotsvit von Gandersheim Louise Aston Elfriede Jelinek and Erica Pedretti from the tenth century to the present day Each entry includes a biography a discussion of major themes a survey of criticism and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources An introductory essay overviews the history of literature by women in German speaking countries and an extensive bibliography concludes the volume Women have actively shaped literature in German speaking countries from the Middle Ages to the present day These authors continue to enrich the world of letters and an increasing amount of scholarly attention is given to their writings In spite of their contributions however most of these writers are virtually unknown to English speaking scholars and students And though one of the explicit goals of feminist literary and cultural studies has been to provide a voice to a multitude of diverse authors feminist research still seems to focus heavily on texts by authors such as Christa Wolf Ingeborg Bachmann and Bettina von Arnim or on certain periods in 19th and 20th century German literature and culture As a result many other women authors have faded into obscurity Through entries written by expert contributors this reference book provides insights into the life and writings of 54 women authors from German speaking countries Entries are arranged alphabetically to facilitate use while an appendix lists the writers chronologically Included are profiles of authors from the tenth century to the present day such as Hrotsvit von Gandersheim Louise Aston Elfriede Jelinek and Erica Pedretti Each entry includes a biography a discussion of major themes and stylistic features a survey of criticism and a bibliography of primary and secondary sources An introductory essay overviews the history of literature by women in German speaking countries and provides a theoretical context for the work and an extensive bibliography of secondary sources concludes the volume

Jewish Frontier, 1960 Women Under the Third Reich Shaaron Cosner, Victoria Cosner, 1998-10-30 Traditionally the story of the Third Reich has been a story of men yet women participated in all aspects of the war and on both sides of the Nazi flag This dictionary with entries on more than 100 women shows the diversity of their roles in this turbulent and disturbing period It includes entries on resistance fighters nurses entertainers writers filmmakers spies and prisoners with exceptional spirit and courage The women represented here came from all the countries involved with the Third Reich and from many different occupations before their involvement in the war housewives secretaries singers film stars pilots and athletes This volume reveals the women's perspective on the history of the Third Reich Despite the vast number of women who supported or fought against the Third Reich historians have often neglected them and their contributions Researchers checking the index of a book on the Third Reich might see one or two female names usually Anne Frank or Eva Braun This book is the first to provide biographical information on the vast number of women who helped shape the era It offers an opportunity to reclaim a small sampling of the women who fought against or supported the Third Reich

Walter Benjamin Momme Brodersen, 1996 Revised and updated for the English edition this comprehensive biography provides an account of Benjamin's career and demonstrates the fallacy of the popular romanticized notion of his life as the sorrowful progression of a melancholic personality

Women in World History: Jab-Kyt Anne Commire, 2000 Presents biographical profiles of significant women from throughout the history of the world each with birth and death dates when known a time line quotation and references arranged alphabetically from Jab Kyt
