

Getting Along with My Parents Thematic Unit

Getting Along with My Parents Thematic Unit has been specifically designed for young people as they grow and mature in their relationships with their parents.

The goals for the unit include:

1. Help young people understand their roles and concerns and those of their parents.
2. Understand the challenges of adolescence.
3. Help young people improve communication, sharing and listening to their parents.
4. Allow young people to share with other young people and adults.

Activity 1: FAMILY PICTURE

Hand out sheets of paper and crayons and have your students draw pictures of their families. Divide into groups of three or four and ask each person to explain his or her drawing to the group.

Activity 2: WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Enlist the help of a qualified speaker to speak to your students on the topic: "What Does It Mean to Be a Family?"

After the talk, divide into groups. The groups can be made up of eight to twelve students. Half of the students in the group represent "parents," the other half as young people. Begin by getting the "parents" in a circle with the young people sitting in another circle behind the "parents." The "parents" do all the talking; the young people must remain silent and listen. After 10 - 15 minutes or so, switch and put the young people in the inner circle. They do all the talking while the "parents" listen.

Encourage your "parents" to try and put themselves in their parents' shoes. Your speaker may have a topic to discuss and react to, but in case you need some, try: What does the word "family" mean for you? Whom does it include? What does your family mean to you? How important is it for you?
