Get Elected Make A Difference:

Being, Freedom, and Method John A. Keller, 2016-12-22 John Keller presents a set of new essays on ontology time freedom God and philosophical method Our understanding of these subjects has been greatly advanced since the 1970s by the work of Peter van Inwagen The contributions from some of the most prominent living philosophers engage with van Inwagen s work and offer new insights in metaphysics philosophy of religion and the philosophy of philosophy Van Inwagen himself gives selective responses In metaphysics the volume will particularly interest philosophers working on free will relational vs constituent ontologies and time travel in philosophy of religion notable topics include the ontological argument the compatibility of theism and evolution the problem of evil and the doctrine of atonements And there are three papers on the hot topic of philosophical success with responses from van Inwagen

Publics, Elites and Constitutional Change in the UK Daniel Kenealy, Jan Eichhorn, Richard Parry, Lindsay Paterson, Alexandra Remond, 2017-07-04 This book explores the governance of the UK and the process of constitutional change between Scotland s independence referendum in September 2014 and the UK general election in May 2015 The book contrasts the attitudes of the public captured through an original survey with those of politicians civil servants and civic leaders identified through over forty interviews It pays particular attention to two case studies involving recent changes to the UK s governing arrangements the Smith Commission and the transfer of further powers to the Scottish Parliament and Greater Manchester s devolution deal that has become a model for devolution across England It also considers the issue of lowering the voting age to 16 contrasting the political attitudes of younger voters in Scotland with those in the rest of the UK The book will be of interest to students and scholars of UK politics devolution constitutional change public attitudes and territorial politics
